Our Vision

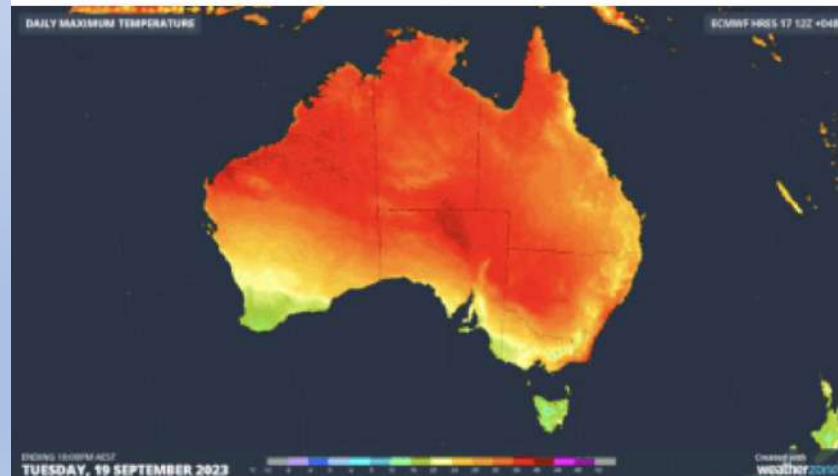

Wherever there is hardship or injustice, Salvos will live, love and fight, alongside others, to transform Australia one life at a time with the love of Jesus.

Spring heat records shattered as Australia warms towards a long hot summer

Though the Bureau of Meteorology has yet to officially declare an El Nino, there are signs the weather pattern and climate change are driving up temperatures.

By Nick O'Malley • September 18, 2023 - 02:15pm

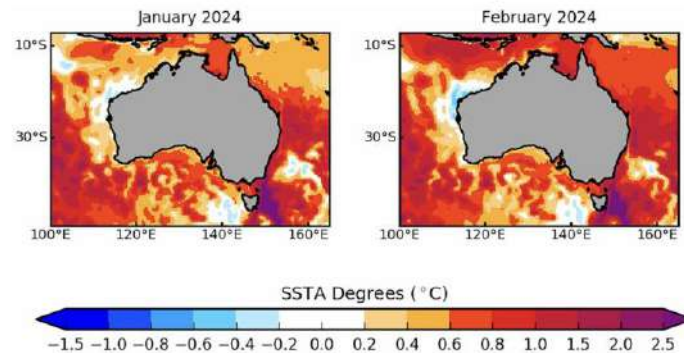

Three maps showing the forecast maximum temperatures across Australia during the next 3 days, based on data on the ECMWF-HRES model.

📷 A Bureau of Meteorology map showing sea surface temperatures. The Bureau of Meteorology expects a patch of the Tasman Sea off Tasmania and Victoria will be at least 2.5C above average from September to February.

It's official. An El Nino has been declared. What does that mean?

El Ninos are associated with heat and less rainfall. But what causes them? And what difference does climate change make?
