

What's new in Regionalisation?

Over the coming months clubs and members will start to see some of the new opportunities the Regionalisation Pilot is creating. Elected by clubs last November, the Regional Council is setting up its teams and is currently seeking applicants for Portfolio Committees. If you want to help shape the future of Rotary in our region, find out more and apply here.

The Pilot is also seeking people who are interested in sharing their expertise with Rotarians and Rotaractors across our region to become a Rotary Specialist. If you want to share your knowledge on web design, conflict resolution, a youth program, social media, or another area relevant to clubs, this role is for you! Clubs will be able to access Specialists to help them in any aspect they need. Find out more information and apply here.

In February and March, club Presidents and leadership teams will meet in their new Rotary Community Group to start exploring new ways of collaborating. This will be a great opportunity to expand your projects and leverage on shared experiences.

The Regionalisation Pilot team have also resumed monthly webinars for all members. I encourage you to register and attend to learn more about what's coming up next in the Pilot.
